THAILAND FLOOD RESPONSE

World Vets personnel are actively involved in the water rescues taking place in Bangkok each day. They are on board rescue boats in search of dogs needing assistance and see to their subsequent transfer to safe zones.

Buddhist temples are now operating as temporary shelter areas for dogs. Our personnel visit these temples each day to deliver food for the many dogs seeking refuge. Aside from delivering food to the temporary shelter areas, World Vets personnel have been delivering food to pet owners throughout the city of Bangkok.

World Vets also has two of its Field Service Veterinarians at the Wildlife Friends Foundation Thailand (WFFT) facility. They are providing direct veterinary aid to all animal types as well as spay/neuter surgeries. We have three additional veterinarians lined up to serve as the relief team.
